OR SKIN CANCER.

For seven months I suffered with a cancer on my face. Eight months ago a friend recommended the use of Tansy's Pills and I determined to make an effort to prove it. In a few days I was well again. It has since been the influence of the medicine that has aggravated the sore but soon the influence of the Tansy's Pills has again improved after the first few bottles. My general health has greatly improved. I am stronger than ever before. The cancer is gone. The cancer on my face began to decrease and the nose to heal, until there is not a vestige of it left—only a small scar. Mrs. George A. McDonald, Atlanta, Ga., August 11, 1885.

I have had a cancer on my face for some years, extending from one cheek bone across the nose to the other. It has given me a great deal of trouble and pain. I have tried every such an extent that it was almost universal. I commenced using Tansy's Pills in May, 1885, and have been taking them ever since. Elizabeth Cady Stanton

Elizabeth Cady Stanton was born in 1815 in Johnstown, N. Y. She is the daughter of Judge Daniel Cady and Margaret Livingston, her wife. She was educated in a class of boys at the Johnstown Academy, and afterwards at the Albany Academy in Troy, N. Y. In 1840 she married Henry B. Stanton, and went with him to London to attend the World's Anti-Slavery Convention held in that city, and which stirred the minds of the universe so powerfully that she settled in England, and it is from that point that the call for the first suffrage convention was issued, bringing together three women destined to exert an important influence in the cause of freedom and the welfare of their race.

Jennie June

Frances Power Cobbe of Wales, England, but born in New York, is a strong figure in this day and generation. Her face and form not unlike our own Elizabeth Peabody, but possessed of astonishing versatility and power. Her hobby is, and has been for years past, vivisection, but she has written many books on the subject.

"Duties of Women," one of the noblest books to put into the hands of girls that ever was written, and she still lectures and writes constantly for magazines and newspapers. Some of her works are "Intuitive Moral," "Broken Lights," and also edited Theodore Parker's works. She has been a steadfast worker all along the line of temperance, and with her letter of congratulation to Mrs. Stanton sent a photograph of which the above picture is a copy.

John Isemann

John Isemann was born in 1856 in Johnstown, N. Y. He is the son of Quaker parents, and was for fifteen years a teacher. Since 1853 he has been associated with the suffrage movement, but was previously a member of the Free Soil party, for whom he organized a large number of clubs, and that enthusiasm for humanity which was the aspiration of her future career. But she lived ten years. She spent her fortune in an unsuccessful effort to cure her rheumatism, and die before any of her efforts had ripened into fruit. But she was courageous and sincere, a martyr to her faith and convictions, and deserves a high place among women reformers. JENNIE JUNE.
